POLICEMEN'S UNIFORMS

Arrived Tuesday and the "Coppers" Put Them on Yesterday For the First.

Monessen policemen are now proudly patroling their beats in bran new uniforms, just out of the tailors' shop.

The new outfits, which were purchased from M. C. Lillie & Co., of Columbus, Ohio, arrived Tuesday, and the guardians of peace and quietude donned their new and lighter regalia yesterday.

The new suits are made of the regulation blue cloth, with grey helmets which, we must say, add greatly to the dignity and good looks of our worthy minions of the law.

TO BE SOLD FOR TAXES.

A number of Monessen properties are advertised to be sold for dilinquent taxes by County Treasure Boyard, but of the list a number have been redeemed by the owners and the titles made good.

In the original list of ten columns or more advertised there were over 11,700 properties, consisting of vacant lots, houses and lots, farms, coal lands, churches, business plants, etc., on which the unpaid taxes range individually from $1.30 to $332. The properties will be sold to the highest bidder, but the bid must be for the full amount of taxes and costs.

Met Death in a Tunnel.

James McMinny, of Courtney, was instantly killed at Simpson tunnel, near Brownsville. Wishing to go to California, the man boarded the wrong car, and while walking back to town through the tunnel, he was run down by a freight. Deceased was 26 years of age, and the funeral occurred this afternoon at two 2 o'clock.

FORMER POLICEMAN ARRESTED.

Was Given Hearing This Morning on Charge of False Pretense.

Emanuel Antonezzi a former police man of this city was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Jas. A. Watkins this morning on a charge of false pretence preferred by Max Mansbach one of our prominent clothing merchants.

He had it seems purchased a suit of Mansbach about two years ago, stating at the time that he would draw his pay at one of the local mills the next day and pay for his purchase.

He left town and did not return; it was later learned that he had drawn his pay before leaving. Yesterday he came to Monessen to act as witness in a local lawsuit and Mr. Mansbach swore out a warrant for his arrest. He eluded the officer however until this morning when he was placed under arrest by Constable Woolsey.

He agreed to settle the claim which amounted to $12 and upon payment of costs was released.

Musician Was Drowned.

Theodore Jones, colored, was drowned at Monongahela Monday evening, and the body was recovered at 4 p. m. Tuesday by Capt. Dias and Dave Province. Deceased was a member of the Lavelle Carnival company exhibiting at that place, and the company bought a burial lot in the cemetery, bore all expenses. The band, of which Jones was a member played a dirge, the young man having lost his life directly after taking part in a street concert.

Pushing Street Car Line.

Engineer C. N. Bennett, in charge of the street car line from Black Diamond to Donora, says preliminary work is being rapidly completed, and that the company hopes to begin actual work of construction at an early date. The ties will come in this month while the rails will be delivered in June. Some rights of of way are still tied up, but the company expects to overcome this difficulty. The road should be in operation by next fall.

TO OPPOSE MR. HUFF.

Prominent Democrat is Talked of as a Man to Make the Congressional Fight.

The announcement is made that Thomas Lynch, president of the H. C. Frick Coke company, will in all probability be the Democratic candidate for congress in the Westmoreland and Butler district in opposition to Congressman George F. Huff.

The pressure brought upon Mr. Lynch for the past few days has been very strong, and while he has not yet consented to be a candidate, it is almost certain that he will do so within a few days. He is one of the most prominent Democrats in Western Pennsylvania.

Letter to W. B. Stewart.

Monessen, Pa

Dear Sir: Would you like to hear of a 20-year paint?

Mr. James A. O'Neil's house, Henderson, N C, was painted 20 years ago with Devoe lead and zinc, and never painted again till last year; it then looked better than common paint in half that time.

The reason is: Devoe is all paint and true paint; while the common paints are part true and part false. Don't pay to monkey with paint.

And Devoe costs less than any of 'em; not by the gallon, of course; by the house and year. That's how to reckon it Go by the name.

Yours truly

American Geographical Names.

America can show many geographical names taken from novels California comes from the name of a fairy kingdom in a Spanish romance of the early sixteenth century The Antilles take their name from Antiglia, an imaginary island figuring in Italian legends connected with the wanderings of St Brendan, and marked in the latitude of the Sargasso sea on Catalan and Genoese Portulani of the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries. Montreal is by some said to take its name from a legendary castle mentioned in French romances of a very early date. The island of Barataria, lineally descended from Sancho Panza's imaginary governorship, also figures on the maps of Louisiana, while it is a moot question whether the strait of Juan de Fuca does not take its name from a historical geographical romance, a la Rider Haggard, devised by a Greek sailor of Queen Elizabeth's day for the benefit of her majesty's resident at Venice and his own pocket "I Brazil" is found in early Irish legend as an island in the Atlantic, and it is a moot question whether the empire of Brazil derives its name from this creation of the Celtic fancy or from wood from which a dye resembling in color burning cinders was made

When Eugene Field worked in Newark he used to smoke a cob pipe, greatly to the disgust of his employer, who was a man of taste and refinement and liked his employees to observe the niceties of personal appearance. "Can't you find something better to smoke?" asked his employer one day in early December. "To see you with that thing in your mouth one might take you for a workingman"

"It's the best I can afford," said Field, and every day thereafter he made it a point to meet his patron in the hall puffing away at the obnoxious dudeen

Immune to Colds.

"A Quakeress," said a physician, "never catches cold Her immunity is due to her bonnet. If I had my way, all of us, women and men alike, would wear Quaker bonnets This bonnet protects the back of the head and the nape of the neck, two very tender spots The nape especially is tender Let a good draft strike you there for just a second and I'll guarantee you a week's cold The Quakeress' bonnet may not be beautiful, but, protecting her nape as it does, it keeps her free from colds year in and year out."—New York Press.

"But suppose you don't win," suggested Dorothy anxiously.

Vernon shrugged his shoulders. "Then our marriage is indefinitely postponed," he said, "but it cannot fail," he added. "My information is positive."

"It's an awful risk," whispered the girl. Vernon took her in his arms.

"Dear little girl," he said soothingly. "It is a deal that takes place almost every day. It is the only way in which I can quickly make enough money to support you in good style, and I cannot take you from your father's house to lead a life of dreary economy."

"I'd rather do that than risk losing it all," she said bravely. "That would be awful, dear."

"Never fear," he assured. "This will win. It is just a case of selling something for more than you expect to pay for it, while the other man expects you will have to pay more."

"Suppose father should find it out," she whispered, and a shade of awe crept into her tones. She was a little afraid of this father, who was one of the financial kings.

"He would probably hold up the market and clean me out," he concluded. "Therefore he must not know."

"Tell me all about it again," she pleaded. "I am so slow."

Patiently he went into the details again. F. and V. stock was steady at 78. He had reason to know that there would be a drop in a week. He would purchase "calls," the right to sell within ten days, shares of the stock at 73. The profit would come if the stock was selling lower than that. If things went well, the stock should fall to 65, leaving him a profit of $8 on every share that he sold.

Some large operators had combined to force down the stock, and he was to profit by his knowledge of that fact before the break came. Two days before Morton Harvey had refused his consent to the marriage of his daughter to Chester Vernon and had suggested that he should make some mark in the world before he aspired to the hand of the daughter of a man who owned entire railroads. This tip had come as an inspiration, and he determined to stake his entire fortune in an effort to show what he could do.

For two days he worked industriously buying "puts," or permissions, to sell certain blocks of stock at stipulated prices. If the price did not fall below that price he would be reduced to practically nothing. If it fell below he could demand the difference between the price and the actual selling price in cash.

Beyond a hurried telephone call he did not hear from Dorothy, for after the exchange closed he was busy with his agents settling their figures.

It was not until the third day that he placed his block and in jubilant tones invited Dorothy to lunch with him. "I've won," he exulted; "there is nothing to do now but to sit still and watch the stock fall. I don't even have to bother about depressing it. The other fellow kindly does that for me."

But his triumph was short lived, and it was a haggard faced man who presented himself at the restaurant. "It's all up," he said in answer to Dorothy's eager questioning. "I have just had word that the pool has been abandoned."

"But can't you take those things back and get an exchange slip for them?" asked Dorothy, with a recollection of shopping tours.

Vernon shook his head. "No such luck," he groaned. "They've got pretty nearly every cent I own, and they won't give it up."

Dorothy smiled softly to herself. "I don't think it is as bad as that," she said decidedly. "I have an idea."

"If your idea will depress F. and V. ten points," he said grimly, "I should like to have it."

Dorothy dimpled and shook her head. "You can't have it," she laughed. "You just sit still and let the other fellow do the work."

Vernon remembered his words of the morning and groaned. The other fellows had decided to do nothing with the stock. It was to be left alone.

"Your father won't help out," he said dolefully. "I told you that the other day. Remember?"

Dorothy nodded her head. "I don't mean to laugh, Chester," she said tenderly, "but it is all too funny."

"It won't seem so amusing later," he warned, but in the end he caught something of her confidence, and the dessert found him far more cheerful than had the consomme, so suggestive of his own impending fate.

If there was a chance for a fight there would have been some comfort, but even the opportunity of a struggle was denied him. He could only wait for the unexpected to happen—or Dorothy's plan to work. He could not believe that the latter was of any avail. What could she know about the market?

But for all that F. and V. went to 77⅝, held there for an hour, then dropped to the quarter. It gave the traders no concern. F. and V. was a steady stock, but it could not always stand at 78. It might even go a trifle lower.

But when it went to 74⅜ the next morning and closed a half point lower the room traders began to grow interested and speculated as to where the drop was coming from. When it was found that the blocks of stocks were coming from the largest holders a panic took them, and for the next three days the market steadily declined. When it went to 63⅞ Vernon closed out and in his jubilation telephoned Dorothy to select the ring. He had cleaned up an enormous profit.

Morton Harvey found them in the library when he came home. He frowned slightly as he saw Vernon, then his face lighted up.

"You seem pretty chipper for a man who has been cleaned out," he said grimly.

"Cleaned out?" laughed Vernon. "Why, it's just the other way around. I was on the right side of F. and V."

"I thought you sold long," he cried. "Dorothy said"—

He checked himself, but the murder was out.

"I never could understand those things," sighed Dorothy. "Were you listening when I telephoned Jessie?"

"Didn't you know that the library door was open and that I was sitting there?" he demanded. She looked bravely into his face.

"Yes," she said quietly, "I did know. I knew that you were there and that you would hurt Chester's deal if you could."

"And fooled me into putting the market down to help him out?" he laughed.

Dorothy hung her head. He crossed the room and raised the dimpled chin.

"Daughter," he said tenderly, "I guess I'd better confess that I am beaten. I think I'm getting to be too old a man to play the game all alone. I think I shall form a partnership of Harvey & Vernon."

"You and Chester?" she cried, springing up and throwing her arms about his neck.

"No," he corrected, "myself and Mrs. Chester Vernon, nee Harvey. Chester won't need me if he has you. You may form a matrimonial partnership with him. That would be satisfactory."

"Suffered day and night the torment of itching piles. Nothing helped me until I used Doan's Ointment. It cured me permanently"—Hon. John R. Garrett Mayor, Girard Ala.

RENT PAYS FOR LAND.

Fertile Sections of the Southwest, Where Land Sells for $15 and Rents for $2 per Acre.

One of the remarkable things about Eastern Arkansas and Northern Louisiana is the fact that cleared land rents for $5 per acre cash, and can be bought for $7.50 to $15 per acre. It costs from $6 to $10 an acre to clear it. Other improvements necessary are slight and inexpensive.

The soil is rich alluvial, or made. It produces a bale of cotton per acre, worth $45 to $60. This accounts for its high rental value. Other crops, such as corn, small grains, grasses, vegetables and fruits, thrive as well.

Alfalfa yields 4 to 6 cuttings, a ton to a cutting, and brings $10 to $16 per ton.

In other sections of these states, and in Texas as well, the rolling or hill-land is especially adapted to stock raising and fruit growing. Land is very cheap, $5 to $10 per acre; improved farms $10, $15 to $25 per acre.

The new White River country offers many opportunities for settlers. High, rolling, fine water—it is naturally adapted to stock and fruit raising. Can be bought as low as $3 per acre.

See this great country for yourself and pick out a location. Descriptive literature, with maps, free on request.

HAPPY WOMEN.

Wouldn't any woman be happy,
After years of backache suffering,
Days of misery, nights of unrest,
The distress of urinary troubles,
To find relief and cure?
No reason why any reader
Should suffer in the face of evidence like this:

Mrs. Almira A. Jackson, of East Front St., Traverse City, Mich., says: "For twenty years I was doctoring for kidney and liver trouble, but without benefit. Just before I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I was almost paralyzed. I could hardly stand on my feet because of the numbness and lack of circulation. Had a knife been thrust into my kidneys the pain could not have been more intense. My sleep was disturbed by visions of distorted figures. The kidney secretions were annoyingly irregular, and I was tortured with thirst and always bloated. I used seven boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills. The bloating subsided until I weighed 100 pounds less, could sleep like a child and was relieved of the pain and the irregularity of the kidney action. My circulation is good and I feel better in every way."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mrs. Jackson will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists; price, 50 cents per box.

SCHOONMAKER BEAT DONNER.

One of the Spectator Tells How Wednesday Game Looked to Him.

The business men of Donner and Schoonmaker avenue engaged in a game of ball Wednesday afternoonwhich resulted in the Donner avenue aspirants getting badly beaten.

One of the spectators has very kindly handed us in a written form the way the game looked to him which same we publish at his request warning the readers however that as he hails from Donner his version can be expected to be slightly prejudiced.

"Monessen, famed for its industries, beatiful women, and its streets to the river"

This terse description in current encyclopedia is now void. It is "23" for all such canards.

Any person witnessing the Olympian Games in Athens, a few weeks ago, thought the premier athletes of Uncle Sam were over there.

By no means, gentle readers the "P. As" of Uncle Sam live right here and under various sobriquets played a ball game at Nash's Stadium, Wednesday afternoon.

Max Mansbach and Sam Meyers with malice prepenses did the gathering for our team.

Samuels of Schoonmaker performed the Gum Shoe act, and noiselessly procured Charlie Dohney's bunch of E. A. Cs. Taking his smile and players he tracked to the battle grounds when after a few preliminary genuflections a wigwag system of play was agreed upon also an umpire dressed in a straw hat and a Alice Blue neck tie. Some of the players shied at the tie, but Max Mansbach contended that a chief of a fire department could walk, run or gallop around with anything his esthetic taste deemed suitable for a ball game.

Quietly it may be stated that the man clothed in the blue tie to umpire is known as James Baamer.

The game was really all right. Just enough ginger to show the audience that it was no pink tea. Nothing was said when a player was up in the air or on the ground. Andy Zember, who caught for Samuels' "Ringers" was a regular stone wall. He was detected by the gent with blue tie pushing the players, and solemnly assured that he must be good or he would have to exchange places with the umpire.

The line up of the Donner avenue "Come Ons" would make a Con man sell his wife to get to Monessen. Some of them played really good ball while others looked a Venus di Milo exhibit.

Reaney the Donner avenue twirler changed hats too often to pitch good ball. Samuel's team was partly made up of real players so he can expect little praise for beating Mansbach.

McShaffery of the "Star" who played short for Donner has promised to look up the number of performers who can do a stunt similar to the one done by Donnere, third baseman.

Summing up we find that all of the good things are not located on Donner avenue despite Mansbach's boast that he will beat Schoonmaker in two weeks

HOME GROWN STRAW BERRIES.

Monessen Folks Enjoy Some of Their Own Production But Still Not as Many as They Should.

In some towns home grown strawberries are just begining to appear in the market, but as yet we have not detected this luscious table delicacy from the home gardens of Westmoreland county. However by next week we can expect them in plenty when the crop should be at its highest.

In this county Strawberries are not raised as plentifully as they might be, but a great deal more than they were a few years ago.

In Washington county, the production is increasing in magnitude every year, and many berries come from there into Monessen, some coming from as far as above West Brownsville and back of Rice's Landing.

Strawberries are good yielders, and should be cultivated more profusely than they are. as off less than a quarter of an acre one man raised, tensed and sold $110 worth in one season, after paying expenses of picking.

A Week of Concerts.

A series of recitals, morning, afternoon and evening, will be given at the Pittsburg Conservatory of Music during the week of June 18. These recitals mark the close of the school year and are given by those pupils who have done the best work in piano, voice and violin study during the year. Formerly the recitals were but few in number, but with the growth of the Conservatory, Director Baveridge Webster has been compelled to enlarge the recital period from year to year until now 131 pianists, violinists and singers are scheduled to be heard during the week. Of necessity the range of compositions programmed is very large, because the pupil who has studied only one year, but has made good progress, is given a place with appropriate company, just as the graduate, after years of study, appears in elaborate recital, for the Conservatory receives pupils at any degree of advancement. These are not the only recitals given during the year. The Conservatory Club, a student organization, provides a program every two weeks, and many public concerts are given by the advanced pupils before large audiences. The Conservatory building in Dithridge street, with its fine concert hall and facilities for all school work, houses an institution which in scope and effectiveness has no equal between New York and Chicago.

WESTER NOTES.

Next Thursday we celebrate Flag day.

John Perkins of Donora was in town this morning on business.

June weddings promises to be few and far between at this place this year.

Misses Katie and Jessie Lange were calling on friends in Donora yesterday.

Mrs. Ada Frye and Francis Bealer were in Pittsburg yesterday on a shopping tour.

B. B. Hunter cashier of the First National Bank was in Pittsburg yesterday on a business errand.

Those Monongahela Bridge stock holders were certainly lucky in getting it off their hands at just the proper time.

It would be a good thing if the signs at the cross roads and intersection s in this end of the township were renewed.

Children's day exercises will be held in the M. E. church Sunday evening. An unusually good program as been prepared and everyone is cordially invited to be present.

Yesterday morning between 9 and 10 o'clock a foreigner named Steve Mashaye was caught by a fall of slate in one of the mines near Millesville and so badly crushed that he is not expected to live. He was removed to the Monongahela hospital where every effort will be made to save his life.

IMPROVEMENTS AT THE CAPITOL

Cooling Apparatus is Being Installed and the Place Otherwise Prepared for Hot Weather.

Manager Harry Lebowitz, of the Capitol Billiard parlors, is making a number of improvements, which, when completed, will add materially to the comfort of his patrons during the hot months.

The "Pittsburg Kid" who always aims to give the boys the best there is going, is installing quite a number of electric fans in both the billiard room and bowling alleys. He is also having erected in the front of the building numerous incandescent lights which will improve the outside appearance. Weston and Anderson are doing the work.

A new piano has just arrived and as Harry has engaged one of the best players in the vicinity, good music will be one of the chief attractions at the Capitol this summer. When all the improvements are completed, the "Capitol" will be one of the best equipped and most up-to date billiard halls in the valley.

MORE SHOOTING ON THE HILL.

Man Chased Down Sixth Street and Young Folks Badly Frightened.

Considerable excitement was occasioned on Sixth street last night about 11 o'clock by some promiscious shooting, and a crowd of young people returning from a social gathering was scared within an inch of their lives.

A colored man seen to fire several shots and start to run, as a couple of dogs gave chase and brought him down the hill at a breakneck speed, the mysterious figure of another man in hot pursuit.

It is not known whether the man fired the shots at the dog or was interrupted in an attempt to committ robbery at some prominent Sixth street home.

Circumstances points strongly to the latter, and at any rate, while the Negro thought it best to make tracks and that lively too, you never saw a worse frightened crowd of girls and boys than those who never breathed or looked back until they were safely at home, and tucked away under mama's bed covers.

They all say they will never again remain out so late on the hill, especially while the repeated robber gang is getting in their work hereabout.

"Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I had many hemorrhages," writes A. M. Ake, of Wood, Ind. "I took treatment with several physicians without any benefit. I then started to take Foley's Honey and Tar, and my lungs are now as sound as a bullet. I recommend it in advanced stages of lung trouble." Foley's Honey and Tar stops the cough and heals the lungs, and prevents the serious results from a cold. Refuse substitutes.
